DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4/7/04 has been entered.

Applicant has cancelled claims 1-62 and 64, amended claim 63 and added new claims 69-75.

Claims 63 and 65-75 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 63 and 65-68 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Ingham (USPN 5,844,079).

Art Unit: 1654

The claimed invention is drawn to a preparation comprising a sonic hedgehog polypeptide sequence in which the polypeptide is formulated for topical application to hair.

Ingham et al. teaches topical preparations comprising sonic hedgehog polypeptides encoded by hedgehog related genes, see e.g., for example, column 3. Ingham teaches the Shh polypeptide can comprise a fragment of at least 50, 100 or 150 amino acids in length within the N-terminal half thereof, see, e.g., for example, column 3. In addition, Ingham discloses hedgehog polypeptides which include Shh sequences corresponding approximately to the natural proteolytic fragments of the hedgehog proteins, such as from about Cys-24 through Glu-188, or from about Asn-189 through Ala-475 of the human Shh protein, or analogous fragments thereto, see, e.g., for example, column 3. Please note that nothing would preclude the use of the topical preparations taught by Ingham et al. as instantly claimed- i.e., as topical hair formulations. Therefore, the reference is deemed to anticipate the instant claims above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 63, and 65-68 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ingham et al. (USPN 5,844,079).

Art Unit: 1654

The primary reference is relied upon for the reasons set forth above.

Based upon the beneficial overall teachings provided by Ingham et al. with respect to hedgehog protein preparation, if not expressly taught, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to make result effective adjustments in conventional working parameters thereto (e.g., particular fraction sizes and modifications thereto) as a mere matter of judicious selection and routine optimization.

Thus, the claimed invention as a whole is prima facie obvious over the cited reference, especially in the absence of evidence to the contrary.

Conclusion

All claims are rejected.
